

THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

HOW TO RESPOND TO THE OFFER OF ADMISSION (Multiple Offers Scheme)

Multiple Offers Scheme

1. Your application is under simultaneous consideration by all of your programme choices. Because of the differences in the programme selection criteria and process, some will make decisions earlier than others. The multiple offers scheme allows you to get admitted to the best possible programme according to the order of your preference and your examination results. The detailed scheme rules are as follows:
 - 1.1 Your application is being considered by each of your choices individually, i.e. the acceptance of an offer from one of your programme choices will not affect your chance of admission to the other choices. The other choice(s) will continue to review and consider your application. You will be informed of the outcome as soon as it is available.
 - 1.2 Offers from programmes can be conditional or firm. Under this scheme “firm offer” means an offer without any further academic conditions attached, but subject to submission of official proof or officially certified copy of results or qualifications required by the University. You can accept at most one firm offer and more than one conditional offers (see rules 1.3 and 1.4 below), or up to five conditional offers from the University, but will have to make a final decision within three days after the release of the final examination results for meeting the academic conditions attached to the conditional offer; or the deadline stipulated in the offer letter, whichever is earlier.
 - 1.3 If this is a firm offer and you have earlier accepted a firm offer, on your acceptance of this later offer, you will be regarded as having automatically declined the earlier offer.
 - 1.4 If this is a conditional offer and you have earlier accepted a firm offer, or this is a firm offer and you have earlier accepted a conditional offer, you could, if you wish, accept this offer in addition to the earlier offer and only make a final decision when your examination results are released (see rule 1.2 above). Alternatively, you could choose to decline either of them.
 - 1.5 Applicants should not accept offers to programmes which they are not serious in getting admitted to. Accepting multiple offers ties up places which could otherwise be offered to other applicants.
 - 1.6 To accept an offer, you have to pay a non-refundable deposit of which shall be credited towards the first year’s composition fee. You however only need to pay it once irrespective of the number of offers you have accepted. Should you decline an earlier offer for the purpose of accepting this offer, the deposit paid will be automatically transferred towards the current offer. You do not need to pay again when accepting the offer. It is important to note however that should you eventually decide not to take up your studies at this University, the deposit will not be refunded, except for reason that you fail to satisfy the University entrance requirements and/or programme requirements for admission of all conditional offers you have accepted and you have not accepted any firm offer.

Offer Acceptance

2. If you have accepted an offer and wish to accept other offers, you are required to
